A Tale of Two Covers

Sometimes the best-laid plans get foiled in a way that turns out to be a lot of fun. This past week, we spent hours at the Rochester Country Fair taking photos and video as well as having a great time – the plan was to feature the fair on this week's cover. A no-brainer, right?

Then serendipity manifested in the form of the Oscar Mayer Wienermobile at Ned's Point Lighthouse, essentially shaking the foundation of our well thought-out cover plan. We have great photos of the fair and awesome photos of the Wienermobile – whatever were we to do? This is the kind of problem we love to have, an overabundance of wonderful photos.

Feeling a bit beside ourselves in agony to choose one cover photo, we went and posted the possible covers for this week on Facebook for our readers to ultimately decide. (If you're not already a fan, you can check us out at www.facebook.com/wanderer.)

The overwhelming choice was the Wienermobile, but we still wanted to showcase the fair. There were some compelling comments for both cases, which is why we love our Facebook fans and value your input!

After reading all the comments and continuing to vacillate back and forth between the two cover options,

On the Cover: It was a difficult choice of which photo to put on the cover this week so we decided not to choose. Which cover did you get, the Rochester Country Fair or the Oscar Mayer Wienermobile? RCF photo by Jean Perry, Wienermobile photo by Denise Mello - see the whole story above.

we came up with a new solution: two editions of The Wanderer! That's right, the edition of The Wanderer you are looking at has a doppelganger with a different cover! Be sure to check out both covers with the Wienermobile and the Rochester Country Fair, and thank you to everyone who commented on Facebook!

Hey, Mattapoissett! Got Ketchup?

By Jean Perry

Those enjoying the afternoon at Ned's Point Lighthouse on Sunday, August 17 did a double take when they suddenly saw a sight they were not expecting to see – a giant wiener on wheels parked alongside Ned's Point Lighthouse. It was not just any wiener on wheels: It was the famous Oscar Mayer Wienermobile, on location taking some promotional photographs from Mattapoissett's most iconic setting.

Mattapoissett resident Denise Mello was just driving up to Ned's Point to enjoy a dinnertime picnic around 6:30 pm that day when she spotted the Wienermobile parked in front of the lighthouse, with several people taking a series of photos of the Wienermobile from different angles.

"Oh! How cool! Look at that!" was Mello's initial reaction upon catching her first glimpse of the unexpected sight. She said, at first, that she just sat down to enjoy her dinner and did not give much thought to the peculiar sighting at the lighthouse. Then, she said, she thought she had a good chance of getting a few good photos of the Wienermobile, so she ran home, grabbed her camera, and returned to Ned's Point and starting clicking away.

"They were just taking pictures," said Mello.

"They told me that they were shooting a commercial." More specifically, they were shooting a time-lapse film of the Wienermobile by the lighthouse as dusk set in, which apparently the company is doing in several locations across the country.

Word must have spread that the Wienermobile was in town because soon, Mello said, more people started driving into the Ned's Point parking lot to get a peek at the celebrity of sorts that was passing through, maybe snapping a few selfies by the giant hotdog by the sea.

Alexandra Longo of Oscar Mayer told The Wanderer that the commercial is part of a larger project involving Kraft Foods Marketing, the parent company for Oscar Mayer.

Fair and you'll get a humorous and also heartfelt mixed response.

At first, she'll tell you that it is because she is insane on some level – volunteering countless hours of time, even months before the Grange Fair festivities formally began on Friday, August 15, filling out all the paperwork with the State Department of Agriculture, designing the fair booklets, and all the time it takes setting up for the event.

And then, all joking aside, LaFleur, the Rochester Grange and Grange Fair secretary, will tell you why she really donates so much of her time and energy to coordinate one of the events that seems to dwindle every year across the state and across the country.

"It's tradition," said LaFleur on Saturday, August 16, minutes before participants in the Grange Fair would arrive to find out if their flower arrangement or gigantic zucchini won first prize in their respective competitions. "There are very few granges that are still doing them."

Every year, the members of the Rochester

Grange and their friends bring forth their prize-winning tomatoes, squashes, eggplants, baked goods, handicrafts, you name it – all things country – in hopes that theirs will win first prize. Although, in many cases the prize does not exceed three dollars, they still get a pretty first, second, or third-place ribbon – plus bragging rights for having the most perfect green bell pepper in the town.

The Grange Country Fair tradition began 104 years ago, when LaFleur said granges were popular around the country and people flocked to the grange fairs to display the fruits of their labor, to socialize, and to gather as a community.

"Way back then the Grange was very agricultural. Now, it's a lot more ... it does everything in the community sense," said LaFleur. "They used the fair as a way to show off their crops to the world."

LaFleur said the grange fairs were a lot like the Rochester Country Fair of our own time, with horse pulling and cattle and sheep shows.

This year, according to Rochester Grange Assistant Steward Beth Gonneville, entries were a bit down from previous years, and people that normally enter simply did not this year. After all, it was an uncommonly late spring season this year, which delayed the planting of many a garden in Rochester.

"One girl said she had to plant twice this year," said Gonneville, "so the vegetables weren't ready in time."

Others just did not see the results as spectacular as in past seasons when it came to garden vegetables.

"Every year is different," said Gonneville.

But every August, the Rochester Grange Fair goes on as scheduled, and the Grange Hall is filled once again with baskets and rows of vegetables. Walking around, you could catch a whiff of that first-place set of green bell peppers, onions, and tomatoes just sitting there in their glory with their blue and red and white ribbons lovingly laid across them. You could almost taste that first-place juicy tomato, and imagine how great it would feel to chop up those perfect cucumbers and toss them into your salad.

It takes a lot of work for the grangers to set-up for the big day, and LaFleur said help is hard to find. The membership at the Grange is simply diminishing over time. And by Friday when participants arrive with their entries, LaFleur's head is spinning.

"You get frustrated," said LaFleur, "but at the same time, you just don't want to see them end."

Thank goodness for the Boy Scouts of Troop #31, said LaFleur, who come earlier before the event to set up the wooden stands and tables, and then take them down afterwards.

"Without them, we would be doomed," said LaFleur. "If they didn't come and do the heavy stuff, then we'd be in trouble."

Herb LaFleur, husband to Sue LaFleur, said he is also in it for the tradition. He went on to list his different roles at the Grange, such as treasurer, business agent, fair chairman, and former Grange Master. Do not forget general deputy of the Massachusetts State Grange, too.

"Oh, stop boasting," Mrs. LaFleur said to Mr. LaFleur, chuckling and adding, "We're just a little group of folks hanging out."

The spirit of tradition, like that of the LaFleurs, is what keeps the Rochester Grange Fair going year after year. And how long will Sue LaFleur remain secretary of the Rochester Grange?

"Basically, till I die," laughed LaFleur. "Nobody wants the job!"

Storm Rocks the Boats in Mattapoisett Harbor

By Jean Perry

Away from the coast, the windy rain storm that blew into the Southcoast on Wednesday, August 13, might not have seemed too powerful. At Mattapoisett Harbor, however, boats bounced and bobbed while others crashed into three- to six-foot waves and suffered extensive damage that required some heavy-duty assistance from local businesses and Mattapoisett's harbormaster and assistant harbormasters.

Mattapoisett Harbor, said Harbormaster Jill Simmons in a follow-up interview, was in a precarious situation on Wednesday when strong winds blew in from the southeast and hit the harbor head on. What made this the perfect storm for Mattapoisett Harbor in particular? The harbor has a rather wide opening, which welcomed the high winds and occasional gusts that reached as high as 40 miles per hour. In addition, the harbor faces southeast, the exact direction from which the storm came.

"The waves were moving up in force," said Simmons. "It got pretty lumpy in here."

result of the storm was a big 37-foot trawler that started sinking and had to be raised out of the water Thursday, the day after the storm. Simmons said she thinks it was a total loss.

"It's enough to make you cry, I'll tell you that," said Simmons about the sinking boat. "It was a real beauty."

The damage did not stop there and, according to Simmons, another smaller vessel succumbed to the pounding waves and a number of other boats slammed into the skiff base and were broken up pretty badly.

Mattapoisett Harbor was full of boats moored for the season, but now, just a few days after the storm, Simmons said that only about half of those boats still remain in the water.

Simmons recalled a previous storm earlier in the year when the storm surge completely tore off the dinghy ramp, but damage to boats was at a minimum, simply because during that time of year there were not as many boats in the water.

"It happens periodically around here," said Simmons, "and it doesn't have to be a very strong storm for it to get crazy here."

Richard Morgado, a Mattapoisett resident. His words continue to tell of a hollow tree on his property, held up by the thick vines that encircle it. This old tree – a playground in Morgado's youth – still stands on Dexter Lane as a memorial to its own age and history.

Morgado's story is one of ten collected so far by the Mattapoisett Tree Committee. These accounts, written and submitted by Mattapoisett residents, tell of the aged and beloved trees in their town.

An exhibit in the Mattapoisett Free Public Library displays these anecdotes, along with photographs and other visuals, including a beautiful oil painting by Priscilla Hathaway depicting the English Linden tree of her personal story.

While the exhibit at the library will only be on display for two weeks, the Tree Committee will continue to share people's stories at Town Hall in the future. As more stories are submitted, the committee plans to rotate them on a display next their Tree City USA plaque.

Tree Committee Chairman Sandy Hering is delighted with the townspeople's response to their project. She hopes to have another dozen stories submitted by the end of the year.

"There are a lot of stories that people have and if we don't record them, all of a sudden they're going to be gone," she said, "No one will know who planted that tree, or why was it planted, or what kind of activities used to occur underneath it. Some of the stories are really quite fun."

Hering cited one of her favorite experiences from this project – when Mattapoisett resident Howard Tinkham brought the Tree Committee a cover of Presto Press depicting a drawing of the posting tree on his property on Long Plain Road.

Presto Press, founded in 1954, was a weekly publication that ran in the Tri-Town for nearly forty years. This piece of local history showing a drawing of the posting tree, where the town warrant used to be hung, is a treasure to both Tinkham and the Tree Committee.

"He had it lovingly framed and it's beautifully hanging in his house right now," said Hering of Tinkham's Presto Press cover. The posting tree died and was removed long ago, but it is memorialized in the Presto Press drawing.

"We're trying to make sure that people appreciate the beauty of the trees that are here right now, because once they're chopped down, it takes so many years to regain that shade and that beauty that that tree represented to our town," said Hering.

By collecting cherished stories in the Tree Committee's latest community service project, Hering hopes the committee will be able to preserve this appreciation for the town's trees. Once they've collected enough stories, the Tree Committee may compile them into a small book to be printed by Bristol Community College.

Along with this project, the Tree Committee is actively protecting Mattapoisett's trees by working alongside the Highway Department on the road reconstruction of Main Street, Water Street, Beacon Street, and, eventually, Marion Road to Route 6.

"The Tree Committee has been doing a tree assessment of every tree on this route and what we hope to do is to identify the trees that are must-save trees," explained Hering, "We hope that the work will preserve the best of the trees and new trees can be planted so that future generations enjoy a shady street."

Trees provide more than just a shady street, and Hering illuminated the value of a green town by pointing out both the environmental and the economic benefits.

On the environmental side, trees mitigate some of the world's global warming issues, they secure soil during storms, and their evapotranspiration process helps cool the planet.

On the economic side, Hering said, "It's been proven that tree-lined streets are most desirable when people go to purchase houses and decide where they want to live," so planting and preserving trees in part maintains the town's economic value.

Some trees provide more than just environmental and economic benefits though – they can be sentimental and historical. As seen through the stories displayed in the Tree Committee's project, many Mattapoisett residents feel strong connections to the trees they played on in their youth.

Some stories preserve a culture of an older time – Howard Tinkham submitted a story about a tree on the west side of the Mattapoisett River, which is bent to point towards a favorable crossing to the east side of the river. This tree is evidence of how early nomadic Native Americans created a trail system by bending oak saplings to point towards destinations. What seems like just an oddly twisted tree actually has a meaningful history behind it.

Insect Bites

My dog came inside from his run with a number of 1/2 inch red marks on his belly that were shaped like bullseyes. Are these from deer tick bites? Does it mean that he will get Lyme Disease?

Because of the mild winter, this spring has been especially bad for black flies and biting gnats. These are the small flies that circle your head in the morning and evening. When they bite a dog, usually on the belly and ears where the hair is thin, they leave a characteristic bullseye shaped mark.

Is there a way to prevent him from being attacked by these flies?

Try putting Avon Skin So Soft on the areas that have a thin hair cover. Other insect repellents containing DEET may not be safe on your dog. Use them very sparingly, as on the ears only.

Local Woman Fighting for a Cause

By Jean Perry

Mattapoisett's Shannon Leary is literally fighting for a cause. Leary has accepted a challenge to "knockout cancer" and is putting up her dukes during a months-long fundraising effort to raise funds for Dana Farber and the Jimmy Fund.

This year at the 2014 Belles of the Brawl, Leary will represent Mattapoisett in the ring as she throws punches on behalf of those battling cancer, hoping to raise a minimum of $4,000 to make the endeavor a success. So far, she has raised $3,100 and she is hoping her hometown of Mattapoisett will help her kick butt to surpass her fundraising goal.

The fundraiser is organized by Haymakers for Hope, which gives everyday people the chance to train and compete in an amateur charity boxing match on October 2 at Club Royale in Boston. The participants have no prior boxing experience and are assigned a local gym to train intensively for the event during the weeks leading up to the big day.

"I've always been an athlete," said Leary. She regularly participates in local events such as the Mattapoisett Road Race and Triathlon. "I always like to try something new, athletically."

Leary said she recently lost a dear friend to cancer, so this fundraiser is particularly close to her heart. "It's really an experience for me," said Leary about learning to box and raising awareness of the fight against cancer. "It's like a roller-coaster and I've only just started last week."

Boxing – this is quite out of her realm, said Leary, embarking on this four-month long life-changing journey.

"What I have learned the past few months boxing is that you have to really, really, really commit to boxing. You can't just do it when the mood strikes you," said Leary. "Boxing is not like skiing or tennis; it is not something you can do once a year, on vacation, or on a weekend off." Boxing, Leary said, even at this amateur level, requires "dedication, discipline and guts."

Leary used to be a math teacher "many lifetimes ago," teaching students how to tell time and, now, even a 30-second period of time messes with her mind while she is training for when she steps into the ring.

"Try punching with all-out speed and power on a bag for 30 seconds and you'll know what I am talking about," said Leary. She will have to contend with that, along with someone trying to punch her in the face while punching back, or course.

Leary said she finds the fundraiser both worthwhile and intriguing to her.

"Additionally, I wanted to show my seven and eight year-old sons that their mom is their mom, and is also an athlete," said Leary. "As with those battling cancer, I want my boys to understand part of life is striving to set and work toward achieving goals and in both cases the process requires hard work."

Love, determination, persistence, and belief are the characteristics of a person who is battling cancer in their life, said Leary – and this is her way of honoring

Marion Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

Since they were already meeting on August 18 to discuss Sprague's Cove, the Marion Board of Selectmen decided to cancel their Tuesday, August 19 meeting and approve a few items before their August 18 meeting with ConCom and MOSAC.

Most of the discussion focused on 525 County
Road, a property that is in disarray, for which Building Commissioner Scott Shippey requested a temporary restraining order so that the town could take legal action to secure the property.

Town Administrator Paul Dawson said a similar discussion took place during the last selectmen's meeting when attention was directed toward a Point Road property also in disrepair. He added that the process would be swifter if selectmen voted to authorize town counsel to add the County Road property to the motion for the TRO along with the Point Road property.

Shippey told selectmen the issue with 525 County Road began back in November of 2012, but since then communication ceased between the Building Department and the property owner. He described the property as being in a state of disrepair, which he witnessed back in July 2014.

"The house actually collapsed in on itself," said Shippey. "So there was a very serious issue there." He later mentioned an old gas tank on the site, adding, "There's a lot of hazards."

"I need that TRO to make sure I'm covered to enter that premises," said Shippey.

Selectmen authorized Shippey's request.

"Not so long ago, it wasn't a bad looking place," Chairman Jonathan Henry commented.

Also during the meeting, Henry chose at random the winning ticket for the 2014 Marion Scholarship Committee Annual Raffle. The winner is Brad Wayne, who wins a set of Red Sox tickets donated by MSC member Laura Sharp and her family.

In other matters, the board approved the transfer of one police cruiser to the Harbormaster Department, in light of the purchase of a new cruiser. Dawson said, effective July 1, the Harbormaster Department increased its staff from two to three full-time employees, and an additional vehicle was required for the new assistant harbormaster to use during emergency response calls.

"It's difficult to ... ask them to do that in their own private vehicles," said Dawson. He said all the costs for repairs and maintenance would come out of the harbormaster's budget as well as the waterways account.

"There will be no direct expense to the taxpayers," said Dawson.

Opinions on Sprague's Cove Divided

Marion Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

Marion Board of Selectmen on August 18 witnessed firsthand how divided residents and interested parties are over the root cause and future remediation of Sprague's Cove, which resulted in a vote to take more time to digest the information before deciding on who should have control over the site. Until then, selectmen are holding onto their authority over the property.

The board and about 50 residents alike heard two conflicting presentations by the Marion Conservation Commission and the Marion Open Spaces Acquisition Commission (MOSAC). They also heard advice from phragmite expert Dr. John Teal of Rochester, who also serves on the Rochester Conservation Commission.

By now, most Marionites know what a phragmite is. The invasive and non-native species of wetlands vegetation is increasingly invading and occupying wetlands all over the Southcoast, choking out indigenous species of wetlands vegetation and wreaking havoc on the biodiversity of sensitive wetlands habitats.

Efforts to thwart the spread of the unwelcome invaders have been a losing battle thus far across affected areas and, as Teal pointed out during his presentation to familiarize selectmen with the Tao of the phragmite, there is only one way to eradicate them: diligent repeated applications of herbicide, and even that can sometimes fail to defeat the phragms' assault on ponds, swamps, marshes, and beaches.

In its own attempt to spare Sprague's Cove from succumbing to phragmites, a wetland was constructed in 1995 to counteract fecal bacteria contamination of Silvershell Beach from storm water runoff, and the ConCom back in 2012 authorized an outside agency to mow down much of the phragmites at the site, causing some outrage from concerned residents in the vicinity because of the aesthetic alteration to the area.

Norman Mills, on behalf on the ConCom, gave a slideshow presentation on the past, present, and proposed future of Sprague's Cove.

Mills said the phragmites are restricting the water flow of the natural filtration system, reducing the biodiversity of the cove, and they have "destroyed what was put down there originally in 1995."

"MOSAC is well-equipped to control maintenance of invasive species," said Mills after emphasizing that Town Meeting this year struck down an article that would fund the ConCom's effort to control the phragmites. "MOSAC has done nothing to control invasive species..."

The ConCom's recommendation for the future of Sprague's Cove, as presented by Mills, is "to continue the way it is right now," enlisting the help of volunteers in order to restore the wetlands to "the way people remember way back when it started," eliciting a quiet chuckle from MOSAC Chairman John Rockwell seated in the audience, awaiting his turn to address selectmen and residents. Mills admitted that the ConCom "probably overstepped its boundaries" when it had the phragms mowed.

"We went in too quickly," said Mills, and without the input of the community. "Whatever the selectmen decide is fine." Mills said the ConCom prefers to "be proactive, but passive and leave it alone."

Rockwell, also a wetlands specialist, contends that the problem with the drainage of Sprague's Cove stems not with the phragmites, but with a clogged six-inch drainage pipe that has diminished 40% of the system's capacity to filter through water, and what needs to be done is to snake the clogged pipe to open it up again and devise a maintenance plan, involving several interested parties who will agree upon the plan. He added that there has been a history of issues with the drainage throughout the years.

Phragmites, he said, have been used in the past as a preferred soil erosion inhibitor and what is happening here in Marion is the result of aesthetic concerns.

"They don't like the way it looks," said Rockwell. He said, although phragms are one of his concerns overall, he limits that concern to the more pristine areas of Marion that phragmites have yet to invade. Otherwise, the futile battle to remove phragmites is not the best way the town can spend its money, according to Rockwell.

Toward the end of the public discussion, despite Board of Selectmen Chairman Jonathan Henry's statement that the time would not be used to pin blame on either side of the issue, there was a bit of mudslinging nonetheless.

Some wondered that if Rockwell knew of the drainage issue in the past, why he did not bring it up. Rockwell maintained that he had informed someone, but no action was taken. He said MOSAC would not undertake the remediation of Sprague's Cove unless the selectmen voted to hand the authority over to MOSAC.

"And now the selectmen hold the bag, and it's probably a bag they don't really want to hold," said Rockwell.

ConCom member Stephen Gonsalves had a hard time wrapping his head around the drainage pipe, rather than the phragmites, being the main problem with the functioning of Sprague's Cove.

Accompanying MOSAC was the engineer of the original plan for Sprague's Cove, Bernadette Taber, who stated that phragmites would do "just as good of a job" of filtering water as the native species that were originally planted at the site.

"It doesn't affect how this system right now is functioning," said Taber.

"I'm no lover of phragmites ... I've killed plenty," said Rockwell. "It just shouldn't be done under the guise of making the basin work."

Selectman Jody Dickerson said he heard a lot of information that night and needed more time to process, do more research, and preferred to table the matter until the next meeting.

"At this point, I'm not certain how that should come out," said Henry. He said he heard both arguments and "it could go both ways."

Resident Annie Rockwell interrupted a vote to introduce a petition of 162 signatures in favor of handing authority of Sprague's Cove to MOSAC.

Another resident, Sandra Parsons, addressed the selectmen and asked to have her signature stricken from the petition. She said after learning more about the situation that evening, she was no longer sure if she preferred MOSAC to manage the site.

"The jury is out for me," said Parsons, "because I have new things to think about."

Rockwell interjected one final time to suggest that funding phragmite removal at Sprague's Cove was not the wisest way to use Town funds.

"It's not a good use of town money," said Rockwell, emphasizing that his opinion had nothing to do with how he personally felt about phragmites.

of 356 Snows Pond Road lacked some important details the Rochester Conservation Commission needed before approving the Notice of Intent, which includes a new sewage disposal system and site grading within the 100-foot buffer zone.

Some concerned abutters also turned out for the public meeting on August 19 to ask questions and underscore their concerns over the proposed work disturbing the wetlands on the property.

Katherine Hansen recalled that when she filed with ConCom years ago to raze and rebuild on her property, she was required to maintain the same footprint as the pre-existing house and she wondered why Doviak could be allowed to increase the square footage of her new construction.

"I'm just confused as to what the guidelines are, building in the buffer zone" said Hansen. "How can they do it, in land that basically doesn't dry out?" Hansen later explained that she was not trying to challenge the decision, just seeking clarification.

Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon, unable to recall the details of Hansen's project, told Hansen that she would look at her file, but Farinon thought she recalled that the property might have had a more significant slope toward the resource area than on Doviak's.

Some details Farinon requested be included in a revised site plan for the next meeting were the location of a small outhouse to the east, the 100-year flood plain location, the location of an existing dock, and establishing the wetlands delineation on the plan.

A letter from the Massachusetts Natural Heritage & Endangered Species Program confirmed no adverse impacts to protected wildlife.

Some of the septic system concerns will have to be approved by the Board of Health, as well. The matter was continued until September 2.

The commission also continued the public meeting for a Request for Determination for Harris Real Estate Boston, LLC to raze the existing structure at 45 Kings Highway and remove the septic system after the Planning Board requested that one of the main buildings on the lot be removed in order to comply with zoning bylaws.

Brian Grady of GAF Engineering, who also represented Doviak, lacked other important details regarding the septic tank removal the commission needs in order to make a determination.

Farinon recommended Grady provide a detailed summary to the commission since the application called for the removal of the old tank, yet Grady was describing the crushing, filling, and abandonment of the old septic tank.

The site plan calls for the addition of topsoil, seeding, and the eventual removal of the driveway to convert the property into a more natural setting. The matter was also continued until September 2.

In other matters, the commission issued negative determinations, meaning no NOIs are required, for three other RDAs – two of them after-the-fact filings and one for the Town of Rochester.

"I didn't know there was such a thing as a buffer zone," admitted Robert Tavares of 62 Sarah Sherman Road, after having repaved his driveway within the buffer zone without filing with the ConCom.

The ConCom issued a friendly reminder to all residents of Rochester that you must file with the commission before doing any work inside the 100-foot wetlands buffer zone.

Gordon Sylvia of 681 Walnut Plain Road, after receiving a cease and desist order from Farinon, filed the following day for permission to resume clearing overgrown debris and vegetation to build a storage structure near a slope towards the wetlands. He also plans to spread gravel to stabilize the area.

Anticipating the grand opening of its newest conservation property, Doggetts Brook, the commission issued a negative determination for the restoration of some areas disturbed by illegal ATV use and to also remove a small amount of brush in order to maintain access to a small portion of the trail that encroaches on the wetlands.

The next meeting of the Rochester Conservation Commission is September 2 at 7:00 pm at Town Hall.

Brief Agenda, Weighty Issues

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

Brad Saunders, representing the Bay Club, was once again before the Mattapoisett Planning Board to continue his efforts in making changes to the zoning bylaws. As previously presented to the board, Saunders has drafted changes that would allow some general business-zoned locations to be used for cluster subdivisions and some light industrial areas to be re-zoned as open space. During the last meeting of the board that was held on July 21, Saunders made his presentation of the changes he and his partners would like to put before voters during fall town meeting. On this night, he wanted to know what steps to take next.

Chairman Tom Tucker gave Saunders a form to complete so that a public hearing could be scheduled and posted as required by law. Tucker said, "The Planning Board isn't suggesting these changes; you are, so you'll be presenting these at town meeting."

The public meeting for these proposed bylaw changes will be scheduled for September 15 during the next regular Planning Board meeting (Labor Day holiday negates an earlier meeting). The public is encouraged to participate in the vetting of the suggested changes.

Also on the agenda was a continuation of the hearing with Michael Solimando for the sub-division on Appaloosa Lane. Their engineering representative was a no-show, which caused Tucker to comment, "This is a game. I'm getting tired of it." GAF Engineering was expected to provide updated plans for storm water management and drainage along with other information that showed forward movement on what has become a very long, wet road that is still incomplete.

Abutters in attendance expressed frustration and wondered if the board could rescind the Form C approval issued for the sub-division now, rather than give the applicant more time to do nothing. Although board members said they could, they preferred to give the applicant additional time to come forward with positive progress. It was further noted that Highway Superintendent Barry Denham was now involved, trying to work with GAF and the town engineering team for a long-term solution that would benefit everyone. Tucker said, however, that if they failed to demonstrate progress

Master Plan Gains Traction

Marion Planning Board

By Camden Gaspar

The Marion Planning Board continued discussion August 18 on the proposed town Master Plan. The stated goal of the Master Plan is to provide a framework for how Marion can become a sustainable community in the future by creating a plan of action that addresses the interdependence of economic, environmental, and social issues, allowing the town to grow and prosper without diminishing the natural and cultural resources on which the town depends.

"The point of having the Master Plan is to create a process where the town's boards, subcommittees, and taxpayers can work together to determine the feasibility of future projects for the town," board member Jerry "Rico" Ferrari explained. "It's important to have a documented process showing the town's goals and outlining how we will accomplish them."

Ferrari continued, "It also makes it easier for the town to apply for grants and funding from the state. They want to know how the money is being used, so it helps to have a detailed plan to show them and makes it more likely that our requests for funding will be granted."

Ferrari and board member Norman Mills, along with Marion resident Marilyn Whalley, a retired town planner, have taken the lead on constructing the plan. Ferrari and Mills are acting as a Planning Board subcommittee in charge of the development of the Master Plan.

Ferrari started the discussion by noting that the website for the Master Plan must be revamped as a first step. The website will act as a repository of information for the town's government, as well as the public, regarding the goals and processes of the plan.

Master Plan is the inclusion of other town boards, committees, and citizens.

"The Master Plan committee should include one member of [every board] or selectmen appointed committee that governs any aspect of town government. We should also include a citizen at large," Whalley suggested in a document presented to the Planning Board. "The objective ... is to allow all aspects of Marion's citizenry an equal opportunity to weigh in on the goals and action items that will be established."

The representatives from each town board and committee that are involved with the Master Plan's creation will be called the Master Plan Advisory Committee.

To that end, Ferrari said that the website will be essential when it comes to community outreach and encouraging involvement. The board also discussed soliciting written comments and even surveys to gauge the public's sentiment on the various items in the Master Plan. Citizen feedback is critical because it will help the Master Plan committee make decisions about the objectives and action items in every segment of the plan.

The feedback gained from the citizens and town officials in the planning process will help the committee streamline the Master Plan and keep the cost of designing it down. The average cost for the creation of the Master Plan is estimated to range from $50,000 - $150,000 based on the costs other towns have incurred in the creation of their own Master Plans. Whalley pointed out that the bigger the plan, the more expensive and time-consuming it will be to create and implement.

It will be imperative for the board to have all of the funding committed for the project before they contact a professional planning agency to help develop the plan. This will allow the board to control the timeline and keep the committee intact and focused on execution. The Southeastern Regional Planning & Economic Development District (SRPEDD), in conjunction with the Master Plan committee, will help create the timeline and general planning for the Master Plan to ensure that its creation stays on time and within the budget.

The last item discussed was the hiring of a part-time planner, whose sole job would be to gather the relevant data for the planning agency and keep the Master Plan committee on task.

"The tasks involved in a Master Plan are much too time-consuming for a volunteer board. A part-time planner will be needed in addition to SRPEDD," Whalley said.

The next steps in this process will be for the Planning Board to complete a financial plan for the Master Plan and solicit the funding from the Finance Committee. After that, the board will notify the Board of Selectmen and Town Administrator of their intention to develop a Master Plan and express their interest in having community members participate as an advisory committee to Master Plan committee. ConCom and MOSAC Visit Grassi Bog

Marion Conservation Commission

By Jean Perry

Two new aluminum gangways are going in at Grassi Bog to provide trail access for hikers after the Marion Conservation Commission on August 13 approved the Marion Open Spaces Acquisition Commission's request – but it did not go through without a little harsh criticism about MOSAC and the Grassi Bog property from one commission member.

Before opening the public hearing for the Request for Determination to install the gangways, the commission briefly touched upon a MOSAC memorandum sent to the commission in response to a memo dated June 11, 2014 that ConCom sent MOSAC regarding damage to seven of the eight water control structures at the wetlands site off Route 6.

The June 11 memo to MOSAC requested an investigation into the root cause of the damage that some ConCom members observed on May 24, stating its concern that "something is not correct," as written in the memo.

"Within months of the modification," the memo reads, "[water control structures] have been effectively destroyed by one storm event." The memo continues, "Either the design is not sufficient for the expected rainfall events or the modifications are not per plan."

In response, MOSAC Chairman John Rockwell sent their memo explaining that the Natural Resources Conservation Program – the federal program that funded and designed the project – is looking into the issues. Rockwell wrote that, in addition to the significant water flow due to the five and a half-inch rainstorm back in March, "the structures were the recipient of flood waters suddenly released from 50 acres of several upstream cranberry bog reservoirs."

"It's kind of a mess," said Conservation Commission member Stephen Gonsalves. "My question is: If they can't even get this right, how do they expect to take over Sprague's Cove?"

Gonsalves said it did not make sense to him to "fix something that's not broken" while the focus should be on "fixing what's in the backyard."

"This is a mess," said Gonsalves. "I don't know what we've accomplished."

ConCom Chairman Lawrence Dorman stated that Gonsalves' sentiments were not necessarily those of the commission, and Gonsalves confirmed that it was just his opinion.

In a follow-up phone interview, Rockwell explained that since the NRCF plan was implemented, the water management structures would often fail, requiring constant upkeep while the intention was to devise a system that required no management.

"It was just a constant problem," said Rockwell. He said during the March rainstorm event, the 50 acres of floodwater from the bogs upstream overloaded the eight-acre storage pond. "He (the owner of the upstream bogs) let it all go," said Rockwell. "

And 50 acres of floodwater does not fit into eight, as Rockwell put it.

"It's just a pretty big problem for us now," he added. "We had an unexpected occurrence of events."

MOSAC will have to file with the Conservation Commission once the NCRF devises a new water management plan.

Jeff Oakes of MOSAC appeared before the commission for the RDA to install the gangways, which received a Negative 3 determination, meaning the project may proceed and no further action under the Wetlands Protection Act is required.

In other matters, the commission gave a Negative 2 and 3 determination for a RDA for fellow commission member Jeffrey Doubrava to remove phragmites in a beach above the high tide line.

Doubrava said two years ago he had no phragms on his property and now he has roughly 200. He said he plans to use an herbicide in early September, treat the plants again two weeks later, and then remove and properly dispose of them.

Doubrava said he did not need a license to apply the herbicide as long as he remained within his own property.

"Ah, so you can have your phragmites and eradicate them too," said Gonsalves.

A Notice of Intent for Thomas Stemberg of 114 Point Road was again continued until September 10. Stemberg seeks to demolish the existing structure on the property, construct a single-family dwelling, as well as a pool, pool house, tennis court, driveway, and walkways.

To the Editor:

The Mattapoisett Free Public Library would like to thank Michelle and Jon Pope of Uncle Jon's Coffee for their continued support. The Uncle Jon's family has been very generous with donations that help us provide our patrons with great educational and entertaining programming. Most recently, Uncle Jon's helped make our summer reading program a huge success with the young adults of our community. The library is always grateful for the support of local institutions like Uncle Jon's to aid us in our effort to make the library a vibrant community center all year long.

Thank you again from all of us at The Mattapoisett Free Public Library.

Two Arrested for B&E in Mattapoisett

Mattapoisett Police Department Press Release

On Friday August 15 at 2:17 pm Mattapoisett Police were dispatched to 5 Driscoll Lane for a house break in progress. An alert and observant neighbor reported a male subject had just entered his neighbor's home through a window.

Mattapoisett Officer Justin King and Fairhaven Officer Alexander Kisla found a male subject hiding in a closet in the home. The male suspect was identified as Joseph T. Bruttaniti III, from Taunton, MA. Bruttaniti had items belonging to the homeowner in his pockets. He was placed under arrest for breaking and entering of a building in the daytime to commit a felony and possession of a class C controlled substance. A female accomplice was located in a suspicious vehicle parked near the break. She was identified as Kayla Nightengale from Holbrook, MA. Nightengale was charged with breaking and entering of a building in the daytime to commit a felony and possession of both class A and E substances. Both parties were charged with Conspiracy to commit the crime of breaking and entering.

The Mattapoisett Police asks that its residence continue to be observant and call in any suspicious activity as soon as you see it. If it weren't for the quick actions of our reporting party, this would have been a much more difficult case to solve.

A Latin-American Festival

The Marion Concert Band will present a concert of Latin-American music on Friday, August 22. To add to the festive atmosphere of the evening, the audience is invited to wear tropical or Latin-American attire. The program, which includes a trombone soloist, is as follows:

"La Bonita" (Spanish March)

"Mexican Overture" by M. J. Isaac

"Montego Bay" (samba) by S. Nestico

"Caribbean Rondo" by P. La Plante

"Brasilia" by R. Dewhurst

Kevin Kane, trombone

"Brazilian Festival" by A. C. Jobim

"Danzon" by L. Bernstein

"Spanish Flea" by J. Wechter

"Malagueña" by E. Lecuona

"Mas Que Nada" by J. Ben

"Serenata" by L. Anderson

"Cantico" by A. Grayson

"Copacabana" by J. Feldman

"Commandante (Marche Espagnole)" by G. Guentzel

Kevin Kane, trombone soloist, is currently on the faculties of Rhode Island College, Providence College and Roger Williams University. In addition to being a free-lance trombone and euphonium player, he has performed with the Rhode Island Philharmonic, the Concordia Brass Quintet, the Narragansett Brass Quintet and the American Band of Providence, RI. Mr. Kane has been principal trombone of the Marion Concert Band since 2006.

The concert, under the direction of Tobias Monte, will begin at 7:00 pm at the Robert Broomhead Bandstand, Island Wharf off Front Street in Marion. All concerts are free and open to the public.

EEE Detected in Marion & Rochester

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (MDPH) announced on August 15 that EEE virus has been detected in mosquitoes collected from Marion and Rochester, Massachusetts. More specifically, a bird-biting culiseta melanoma mosquito was found in samples taken from the northwest quadrant in Marion and the north quadrant in Rochester.

EEE is a rare but serious illness spread by the bite of an infected mosquito. While EEE can infect people of all ages, people under 15 years of age or over 50 years of age are at greatest risk for serious illness.

By taking a few, common-sense precautions, people can help to protect themselves and their loved ones:

ROCHESTER COUNTRY FAIR

What is more fun than four fun-filled days of frog racing, tractor pulling, mechanical bull riding, and fried food eating? Don't forget the cow-chip bingo and John Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band who rocked the house on Saturday night before hundreds of spectators at the Rochester County Fair. Avoid Mosquito Bites

Be Aware of Peak Mosquito Hours. The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during evening or early morning. If you are outdoors at any time and notice mosquitoes around you, take steps to avoid being bitten by moving indoors, covering up and/or wearing repellent.

Clothing Can Help reduce mosquito bites. Although it may be difficult to do when it's hot, wearing long-sleeves, long pants and socks when outdoors will help keep mosquitoes away from your skin.

Apply Insect Repellent when you go outdoors. Use a repellent with DEET (N, N-diethyl-m-toluamide), permethrin, picaridin (KBR 3023), IR3535 or oil of lemon eucalyptus [p-methane 3, 8-diol (PMD)] according to the instructions on the product label. DEET products should not be used on infants under two months of age and should be used in concentrations of 30% or less on older children. Oil of lemon eucalyptus should not be used on children under three years of age. Permethrin products are intended for use on items such as clothing, shoes, bed nets and camping gear and should not be applied to skin.

Mosquito-Proof Your Home

Drain Standing Water. Many mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water. Limit the number of places around your home for mosquitoes to breed by either draining or getting rid of items that hold water. Check rain gutters and drains. Empty any unused flowerpots and wading pools, and change water in birdbaths frequently.

Install or Repair Screens. Some mosquitoes like to come indoors. Keep them outside by having tightly-fitting screens on all of your windows and doors.

While Marion Rochester Regional Health District continues to work closely with the MDPH and other agencies, locally Plymouth County Mosquito Control has been spraying in those areas where the mosquitoes were found, and they conducted a town-wide spraying on Wednesday August 20, 2014.

Information about EEE and reports of current and historical EEE virus activity in Massachusetts can be found on the MDPH website at www.mass.gov/dph/wnv.

Mattapoisett Tavern and Shipyard Owner

Join the Mattapoisett Historical Society and Seth Mendell on Sunday, August 31 at 5:00 pm at the Gazebo in Shipyard Park as he details the life and achievements of one of Mattapoisett's most prominent and fascinating individuals: Joseph Meigs.

Born in 1776, Joseph Meigs became a master carpenter in the shipyards at the turn of the 19th century and invested in land on the waterfront. He established a tavern – now the Inn at Shipyard Park – and his own

End of Season Movies In The Park

The Mattapoisett Lions Club is again sponsoring Movies in the Park at beautiful Shipyard Park on Mattapoisett Harbor. The movies are free to the public and begin at sunset. Snacks will be available for purchase with proceeds going to various Lions Charities.

On Friday, August 29, The Lego Movie will be shown thanks to a donation from The Seaport Ice Cream Slip. Then on Friday, September 26, the final movie of the summer, Beetlejuice, will be presented with the help of a donation from Hollywood Scoop. Thanks to both of these fine local businesses for their generous community support.

All are welcome, so bring the family, the relatives, your friends and neighbors and enjoy an evening of fun and frolic as we bring the summer of 2014 to a close.

3rd Annual Katie Brienzo Memorial Walk

Join us on Saturday, September 13 at the Our Lady of Angels Feast Grounds, located at 7 Jesse Street, Fairhaven for the 3rd Annual Katie Brienzo Memorial Walk! The walk is approximately 1.5 miles. Registration is $15 ($20 on Walk Day) and the first 100 to register receive a free Katie Brienzo Memorial Walk T-shirt. All proceeds from this event benefit the consumers of M.O.L.I.F.E., Inc., Katie's favorite charity. Katie was also a consumer at M.O.L.I.F.E. and it was her home away from home. The staff there helped her not just overcome her disability, but to thrive as an independent young woman.

You can pre-register at the M.O.L.I.F.E. website or download and print the registration form, fill it out, and mail it in with a check/money order made payable to "M.O.L.I.F.E., Inc." for the $15 registration fee. Obituaries:

Priscilla B. (Senna) Dean, 80, of New Bedford, daughter of the late Jose B. and Maria (Marianho) Senna, died August 17, 2014 after a long battle with Asthma, Emphysema, Bronchitis, COPD and Osteoporosis. She was born in New Bedford where she lived most of her life except for nine years when she lived in Mattapoisett with her companion the late Edward L. Dexter.

In her younger years, she was employed as a stitcher and a house cleaner. She was a member of the Holy Name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish. She loved spending time with her family and friends, collecting dolls, doing puzzles, crafts and looked forward to hosting her Friday night prayer meetings.

Survivors include three sons, Brian Dean and his wife Janice, Wayne Dean and his wife Isabel and Michael Dean and his wife Lisa all of New Bedford; four daughters Donna Wagner, Linda Dean and her companion Martin both of New Bedford, Dotty Gidley and her husband David of CT and Lisa Westgate and her husband Gary of Freetown; a brother Arthur B. Senna of New Bedford; twelve grandchildren; twelve great-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews. She was also the sister of the late Joseph, Daniel, Gilbert, Gabriel and Dorothy Senna, Delores Gallery, Clara Alves, Shirley Oliveira, Lillian Santos and Esther Kirk.

Her Funeral will be held on Thursday, August 21, 2014 at 8am from the Waring-Sullivan Home of Memorial Tribute at Fairlawn, 180 Washington St., Fairhaven followed by a Funeral Mass at 9am at Holy Name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish, 121 Mt. Pleasant St., New Bedford. Visiting hours were held on Wednesday. Burial in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Joseph J. Herman, age 71, of Rochester passed away Sunday, August 10, 2014 at home surrounded by his loving family. He was the husband of Jeannine (LeBlanc) Herman, with whom he shared 48 years of marriage.

Born in Findlay, Ohio, a son of the late M.J. and Mabel (Solt) Herman, he moved to Massachusetts in 1963. He worked as a licensed building contractor in the local area for over 40 years.

Joe played football while attending The Ohio State University and remained an avid fan of the Buckeyes thereafter. He served in the US Air Force during the Vietnam War at Otis Air Force Base in Bourne where he met his wife. As an active member of the St. John Neumann Church community, he was a Lector and Eucharistic Minister, a member of the Couples Club, a Chairman of the Lakeside Family Festival and on the Steering Committee of the Festival for 29 years. He also served on the Board of Directors of Florida Acecapaders Park in Fort Lonesome, Florida.

Joe excelled at problem solving and there wasn't a project or process that he encountered that he couldn't complete or make better. His most recent personal accomplishment was the complete refurbishing of his 1958 International 330 Utility Tractor. He also received a Service to Rainbow Award from the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls in April 2014 in recognition of his hard work and dedication to restoring various buildings at Rainbow Camp in Hanson, MA. Nothing made him happier than sharing the fruits of his labor with his friends and family.

In addition to his wife, survivors include his children, Dr. Susan T. Herman, Debra J. Johnson and her husband Arnold, Peter J. Herman and his wife Elizabeth, Sheryl A. Kretzer and her husband Walter; siblings, Karen L. Hayslip and her husband James, Joyce E. Ward and her husband Mark, and H.R. "Pete" Herman and his wife Gail; Grandchildren, Rebecca, Meghan, and Henry Johnson, Walter, Charles, and Jackson Kretzer; step-grandchildren, Jason, Justin and Emily; many nieces, nephews and close cousins. He was predeceased by a sister, Linda Castor Fleming.

Relatives and friends were invited to his Funeral Mass Wednesday, August 20, 2014 in St. John Neumann Church, 157 Middleboro Rd., East Freetown. Burial with Military Honors was in MA National Cemetery. Visiting Hours were held on Tuesday, August 19, 2014 in the ROCK Funeral Home, 1285 Ashley Blvd., New Bedford.

Donations in lieu of flowers can be made to the St. John Neumann Restoration Fund, P.O. Box 718, 157 Middleboro Road, East Freetown MA 02717-0718.

Captain Shirley G. Mitchell Jr., age 97, of Fairhaven, passed away Tuesday, August 19, 2014 at his residence. He was the husband of Doris A. (Johnson) Mitchell to whom he has been married for the past 65 years.

Born in Fairhaven, the son of the late Shirley G. Mitchell Sr. and Mary "Mollie" Mitchell, he was a lifelong resident of Fairhaven.

A graduate of Fairhaven High School, he attended the Sperry Gyro Compass School of New York. He worked in the fishing industry as a Boat Captain. He was also in the Merchant Marines for the Moore-McCormick Line. Prior to having the 70 foot fishing vessel "Lubenray" built, he had smaller fishing boats and also worked on luxury sail and power boats. After a long career as a Fisherman, he became the Captain of a Research Vessel for the state of Massachusetts for twenty years until his retirement.

A Mason and Shriner for many years, Captain Mitchell was a member of the Unitarian Memorial Church of Fairhaven.

Surviving in addition to his wife, one daughter: Sheila G. Mitchell of Marion, two sons: Stuart G. Mitchell of Rochester, Alan J. Mitchell of Plymouth, three grandchildren: Abby, Mollie, and Melanie Mitchell and many nieces and nephews. He was brother of the late Robert A. Mitchell and Jane Burns.

Private arrangements are in the care of the Waring-Sullivan Home of Memorial Tribute at Fairlawn in Fairhaven. For tributes, please visit: www.waring-sullivan.com

We would like to ask that everyone who attends please bring a non-perishable food donation to help the M.O. Food=L.I.F.E. food pantry in New Bedford.

Registration begins at 11:00 am and the walk begins at 12:00 noon, sharp! There will be music by DJ JT Stevens, raffles, games, and face painting following the Walk. Food and drinks will be available to purchase as well. Again, ALL proceeds go to M.O.L.I.F.E., Inc.

Marion Town Party

The Marion Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Marion Firefighters Association, once again is proud to announce the date for the Marion Town Party. The event will be held on Saturday, August 23 (rain date: Sunday, August 24). The party will take place at its traditional location on Spring Street in front of the Marion Town House.

A cherished Marion community tradition, this year's event will feature a climbing rock wall, bubble bounce, music and photo booth by Ensemble Events, face painting by Handi Mandi, bonfire and more. Seasonal menu items and beverages are planned. Admission will be free.

Proceeds will be distributed between the Marion Firefighters Association and Marion Recreation to benefit local community needs.

MOVIE REVIEW

Subversive Satire

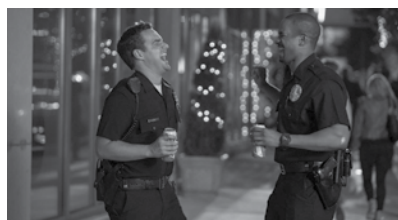

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Let's Be Cops.* Starring Jake Johnson and Damon Wayans Jr. Directed by Luke Greenfield. Running time: 104 minutes. MPAA rating: R.

Given what's unfolding in Ferguson, Missouri as I write this, a comedy called Let's Be Cops seems hideously ill-timed, at least if you go by the advertising. The premise put forth in the ads is simple: a couple of schmoes pass themselves off as policemen, get off on the privilege and power of their new position, and get into all kinds of slapstick debauchery. The actual movie, though, gets all of that stuff — which, if the script went into it deeply and sharply enough, could actually threaten to be subversive satire — out of the way fairly early, clearing the way for an idiotic and dull farce pitting our faux heroes (Jake Johnson, Damon Wayans Jr.) against mobsters of possibly Russian, or vaguely Slavic, origin. See, they pretend to be cops and then have to step up and actually do what cops are supposed to do! Get it?

I can't adequately express how soul-sucking the crime subplot is here. The crime subplot has derailed many a promising comedy; I wished, for instance, when sitting through Date Night that the movie would forget about its mobster storyline and just let Steve Carell and Tina Fey riff and improvise. By the same token, Jake Johnson and Damon Wayans Jr. are amusing enough when simply roaming Los Angeles in their fake cruiser, so why not let them? The desperately tired plot, which also involves a corrupt detective (Andy Garcia, in and out in about three scenes), just leads to uninspired shoot-outs so routine that they might as well be abstract color and movement for all the emotional impact they pack.

Wayans' character works at a videogame company, and his big idea for a game puts the player in the shoes of a purportedly realistic patrolman having supposedly realistic adventures. The game actually looks like every other escapist first-person-shooter game, and so does the police action in the movie. Let's Be Cops would have some point, some satirical juice, if it set up its two idiot protagonists as wannabe-cops based on what they imagine police work is from all the movies they've seen, and then harshly showed them what actual police work entails — going into scenes of very human despair and squalor.

But that wouldn't make for a rowdy Saturday-night farce — not that the movie ends up being one anyway, since it pulls its punches while remaining squarely sexist, racist and homophobic, and not even in transgressive ways that might be cleansing and redemptive, just lazily status-quo.

It's something, I guess, for the black guy to take up with a white girl (Nina Dobrev, not allowed to show a fraction of what Vampire Diaries fans know she can do) and have it be no big deal. Some things are changing. And I liked how she's allowed to contribute to the heroics by plying her trade — she's an aspiring make-up artist — to make Wayans look like one of the mobsters' scary couriers. (The courier he's made up to look like is played, with welcome idiosyncrasy and improvisational flavor, by Keegan-Michael Key.) We don't have to look at the head mobster (James D'Arcy) holding a gun to Dobrev's head until one fake cop or the other mans up and shoots him. That job — the manning up, that is, not the Dobrev-menacing — is left to actual cop Rob Riggle, most likely doomed to play military, cops, or other alpha-male stereotypes until some imaginative director rescues him.

That director certainly isn't Luke Greenfield, who acquits himself here with the same blandness and unfailing ability to miss the point (and the laugh) with which he directed The Girl Next Door ten years ago. The Girl Next Door was an R-rated movie about a porn star in which we never saw the porn star naked — not that I'm pining for nudity, but a movie with raunchy subject matter would do best not to chicken out of it — and Let's Be Cops never hits the delirious highs or revolting lows that a truly daring cop comedy could go for. No, it sticks to its witless, anti-comedy gangster plot, involving a generic Slavic community that Nina Dobrev's character doesn't seem to be a part of, even though the actress is Bulgarian and speaks the language fluently. But then this would have to be a movie that showed the slightest affinity for being culturally astute or for giving its actors something interesting to do.

Team Sole Survivors Holds Fundraiser

The 2014 Relay for Life might be over, but "Team Sole Survivors" never stops raising money and donations throughout the year to find a cure and put an end to cancer.

On Saturday, August 23, members of Team Sole Survivor will be stationed at Al's Yankee Clipper at 482 Marion Road (Route 6) from 9:00 am - 2:00 pm, collecting used clothing and household items to raise funds for the Relay for Life, benefitting the American Cancer Society.

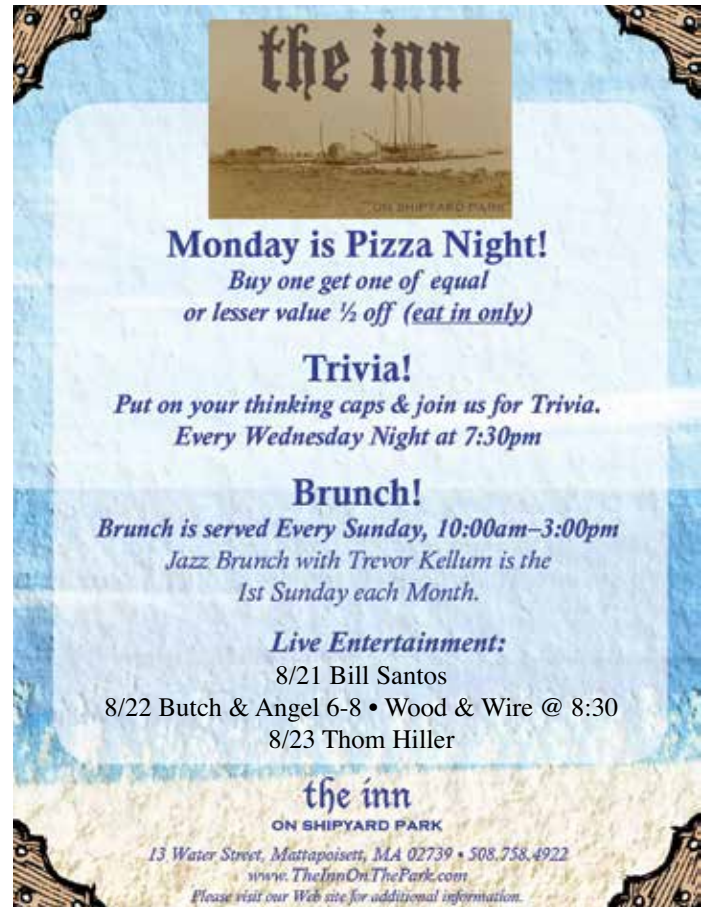

Fill as many trash or kitchen bags as you can with gently used clothing, shoes and accessories, toys, bedding, linens, and bath items, and just drop it off and let Team Sole Survivors turn those old household items you no longer use into a future, hopefully, free of cancer.

Team Sole Survivors will then turn the collected items over to Savers, which will in turn pay Team Sole Survivors 20 cents per pound of items the members deliver.

Fighting cancer is as easy as cleaning out your closet, and all the funds will benefit the American Cancer Society.

For early drop-offs, you can leave bags of unwanted items at Al's Yankee Clipper or at M.A.D. Signs at 2510 Cranberry Highway, Wareham.

Please contact Marybeth Tripp for more information, or to schedule an early pick-up, by emailing

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

The Marion Recreation Silvershell Summer Program ended on Friday, 8/15. We had a very successful 8 weeks! There were field trips to the Roger Williams Zoo, Cape Cod Inflatable Park, New England Aquarium, just to name a few! During our last week we also visited the new playground at Washburn Park and took a walking field trip to the Marion Fire/EMS Station. The weather was just perfect to spend the summer at the beach! Marion Recreation is looking forward to our 5th season in 2015. Plans already are underway!

New Playgrounds at Washburn Park and Point Road are now open! The construction was completed within a week. Marion Recreation would like to give special thanks to the Marion Department of Public Works for assisting the department. If you haven't been to either playground yet, now is the time to check them out!

Monday evening, but singers are asked to arrive by 7:15 pm for their first rehearsal in order to register and receive music. All voices are welcome (soprano, alto, tenor, and bass), and no auditions are required. As always, everyone who has sung with the chorus in past years will be welcomed back.

The chorus will be rehearsing for its 49th annual Christmas Concerts, which will be on Friday, December 5 at Grace Episcopal Church in New Bedford, and at Tabor Academy's Wickenden Chapel in Marion on Sunday, December 7.

The theme for this year's Christmas concerts is "Tidings of Comfort and Joy," and the repertoire includes motets by Andreas Hammerschmidt and Johann Michael Haydn, as well as arrangements of traditional and newly-composed seasonal music.

Now beginning its 49th season, the 90-member Sippican Choral Society is under the direction of Brian Roderick, with Michelle Gordon as accompanist. The group performs at least two concerts every year, singing the works of the world's great composers, as well as popular music.

For further information about singing with the Sippican Choral Society this year, please call Peter McDonald 508-748-0286. If you plan to sing this season, but cannot make the first rehearsal, please let Peter know that when you call.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A chaotic atmosphere taxes the patience of the Aries Lamb, who prefers to deal with a more orderly environment. Best advice: Stay out of the situation until things settle.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Tension runs high in both personal and workplace relationships. This can make it difficult to get your message across. Best to wait until you have a more receptive audience.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) This is a good time to take a break from your busy schedule to plan for some well-deserved socializing. You could get news about an important personal matter by the week's end.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) An offer of help could come just when you seem to need it. But be careful about saying yes to anything that might have conditions attached that could cause problems down the line.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Sometimes a workplace colleague can't be charmed into supporting the Lion's position. That's when it's time to shift tactics and overwhelm the doubter with the facts.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You continue to earn respect for your efforts to help someone close to you stand up to a bully. But be careful that in pushing this matter you don't start to do some bullying yourself.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Don't ask others if they think you're up to a new responsibility. Having faith in your own abilities is the key to dealing with a challenge. P.S.: That "private" matter needs your attention.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) This is a good time to use that Scorpion creativity to come up with something special that will help get your derailed career plans back on track and headed in the right direction.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) While change is favored, it could be a good idea to carefully weigh the possible fallout as well as the benefits of any moves before you make them.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The Goat continues to create a stir by following his or her own path. Just be sure you keep your focus straight and avoid any distractions that could cause you to make a misstep.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A colleague's demands seem out of line. But before reacting one way or another, talk things out and see how you might resolve the problem and avoid future misunderstandings.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A personal matter appears to be making more demands on your time than you feel you're ready to give. See if some compromise can be reached before things get too dicey.

BORN THIS WEEK: You're able to communicate feelings better than most people. Have you considered a career in the pulpit or in politics?

Academic Achievement

Allison LaCrosse of Mattapoisett has been named to the Dean's list at Salve Regina University, Newport, RI for the 2014 spring semester. She will graduate in 2015 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing.

Allison is the daughter of Karen Barrows of Mattapoisett and Matthew LaCrosse of Yarmouth and the granddaughter of Betty Barrows and the late Brad Barrows of Mattapoisett and Pam and Bob LaCrosse of Marion.

Spaghetti Supper Fundraiser

A Spaghetti Supper to support Matt Robbie, a '95 FHS graduate who is battling Hodgkin's Lymphoma, will be held at the Knights of Columbus on September 27 from 4:00 - 6:00 pm or 6:00 - 8:00 pm. There will also be high-value raffles and entertainment. Visit www.robbiestrong.com/events.html to purchase tickets or make a donation. All proceeds go to the Robbie Strong Fund.

Fifth Annual Brad Barrows Motorcycle Ride

The Fifth Annual Brad Barrows Youth Athletic Fund Motorcycle Ride will take place Saturday, September 27 at Rick's Tavern in Mattapoisett.

The Brad Barrows Youth Athletic Fund is a non-profit organization which, through an annual motorcycle run, raises money to offset the cost for families of children who otherwise would not be able to afford local sports programs and activities in the Tri-Town area. In addition, the fund also donates to local charities and fundraisers.

Last year, the 2013 motorcycle run raised $2,000 with proceeds going to the following local organizations:

- Old Rochester Tri-Town Little League - $400
- ORR Youth Football - $400
- Y.M.C.A. sponsorship program - $500
- Carl Collier sail program - $400
- ORR Swim Team - $300

Here's hoping for a great turnout on our 2014 run.

Southcoast Children's Chorus Auditions

The SCC encourages children who love to sing to join us for our exciting fifth season. Young people entering grades 3 - 12 may audition for the Concert Chorus (grades 3 - 6) or the Touring Chorus (grades 6 - 12). Children in grades K-2 may register for the Prep Chorus without an audition. September 7 is the kick-off for the new season - activities for the singers, a meeting for the

Junior Achievement Seeks Volunteers

Junior Achievement of Southern Massachusetts is seeking volunteers to teach classes in Bristol County and Southern Plymouth County during their fall session.

Junior Achievement is a nonprofit organization dedicated to educating students about workforce readiness, entrepreneurship and financial literacy, ultimately empowering young people to own their economic success. Last year, JA of Southern Massachusetts impacted 4,425 students throughout their service area.

Volunteers will educate students about free enterprise, financial literacy, workforce readiness and entrepreneurship.

"JA programs fill a very important gap that often exists between what students are learning in school and how it applies to the real world," said Caroline Paradis, Junior Achievement President. "Volunteers don't need to have any previous experience in the classroom; in fact, most people don't when they first start volunteering with JA. They just need to be willing to share their experiences and help open a student's eyes to a world of new possibilities."

JA provides new volunteers with training and all program materials needed to teach the course. Opportunities are available at the elementary, middle and high school levels. Volunteers will give 45-60 minutes per week for 5-7 sessions, depending on the program. For more information, call Corrie Martin at 508-997-6536 ext. 12 or via email at Corrie.Martin@ja.org.

For more information about Junior Achievement or to sign up as a volunteer, visit <http://jasouthernma.org>.

Old Rochester Little League 2015 Registration

Come be a part of Little League Baseball! Registration is now open for the 2015 season. Parents are encouraged to register their children early. To register, visit the league website at orll.net and click on the pink box under the masthead. The league will hold winter hitting sessions at The Cage in Marion for all 9-12 year olds, which will start prior to December, and only players registered for the 2015 season will be able to participate in the Winter Hitting Sessions.

Old Rochester Little League will be holding Major League and Minor League tryouts/evaluations for the 2015 Season.

This evaluation is for players looking to move up to Minors from AAA or up to Majors from Minors. Players who played on an ORLL Majors team in 2014 do not need to attend the evaluation. Players who wish to stay in the Minors after playing in the ORLL minors in 2014 don't need to attend the Minors evaluation.

If your son or daughter was a call-up at some point during the season, he/she will need to attend these tryouts/evaluations. Any player who will be 12 year old for the 2015 season, but did not play in the Majors in 2014, will play in Majors (Mandatory 12s); however, he/she must be evaluated on August 23 to ensure proper team placement (Mandatory 12 yr. old players are those players who turn 12 by April 30, 2015 and who did not play in the Majors in 2014).

Eligible players for the Majors include children who are 9-12 years old as of April 30, 2015. If your son or daughter is interested in playing in ORLL at the Major League level, they must attend the following tryout/evaluation. If your son or daughter can't attend the August 23, he/she should go to the Minors evaluation on August 30 and contact ORLL President Derek Mello at southeastmaumpires@gmail.com.

Majors Eval: Saturday, August 23 at Dexter Lane in Rochester, MA on Field 3 at 6:00 pm.

Eligible players for the Minors include children who are 8-11 years old as of April 30, 2015. If your son or daughter is interested in playing in ORLL at the Minor League level, he/she must attend the following tryout/evaluation (if your son or daughter can't attend on Aug. 30, they should contact ORLL President Derek Mello at southeastmaumpires@gmail.com).

Minors Eval: Saturday, August 30 at Dexter Lane in Rochester, MA on Field 3 at 6:00 pm.

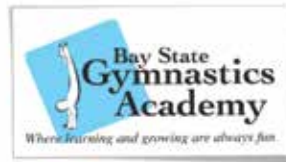

All players should come ready to play with cleats, a baseball hat, and a baseball glove. They should also bring their batting helmet and bat if they have their own. Helmets and bats will be provided for those that need them.

Failure to attend one of these tryouts could impact where your son or daughter plays in the 2015 baseball season. If you have any questions or concerns, please email the ORLL League President at southeastmaumpires@gmail.com.

Rochester's Newest Walking Trail Announced

The Town of Rochester, Wildlands Trust and Rochester Land Trust are proud to announce the opening of the Doggetts Brook Trail, which culminates a successful multi-year effort to link existing Town and conservation lands. The trail originates at the Dexter Lane ball fields and meanders by a reservoir, abandoned cranberry bogs, vernal pool, and through open field and woodlands bordering on Doggetts Brook. In late 2011, the Town purchased a 29-acre parcel of land from Deb Arney of Rochester with funding from the Rochester Land Trust and Buzzards Bay National Estuary Program. The Arney property had long been a conservation priority for the Town, Wildlands Trust and Rochester Land Trust because it was a key link to an assemblage of conservation properties. The groups worked together over the past two years to improve a loop trail that links over 100 acres of open space for public enjoyment. Thanks to a grant from the Makepeace Neighborhood Fund, the trailhead is marked by a map display case, and a kiosk and signage are installed at strategic points along the trail.

Please join us to celebrate the newest walking trail in Rochester at the grand opening on Saturday, September 13 at 1:00 pm at the Dexter Lane Recreational Area by the trailhead display case on the restroom building. After a short dedication, all are invited to walk the trail led by local naturalists. Refreshments will be available at the end of the walk, which normally takes 45 minutes to an hour to complete. Please bring bug spray, water bottles, hats and walking sticks if needed. Dogs are welcome but must be leashed.

An American on Paris

The public is invited to the Marion Music Hall at 7:00 pm on Tuesday, August 26, as Dr. Kirtland Mead presents his lecture, An American ON Paris – An Individual Perspective on Collective French Behavior. Just as individuals exhibit characteristic styles, so a country's people may display common patterns of behavior throughout history. In his talk, Kirt Mead will present a humorous and affectionate view of French style and behavior as it can be read out of their very colorful history. Based on his many decades of living and working in France and with the French, Mead will share his personal perspective on collective French form.

Dr. Mead is a Marion resident and an better way to experience the region's spectacular autumn scenery than on your bicycle? Register today for the Buzzards Bay Coalition's eighth annual Buzzards Bay Watershed Ride on Sunday, October 5, and you can celebrate the beauty of the Bay and our region while helping to protect it for future generations.

Each year, the Watershed Ride draws avid cyclists, casual riders, families, teams and clubs. Cyclists ages 12 and over are welcome. All funds raised from the Watershed Ride will support the Coalition's work to protect and restore clean water in and around Buzzards Bay.

Participants can choose between two picturesque routes: a 75-mile option that begins at Horseneck Beach in Westport or a 35-mile route that begins in Rochester. Both finish at Quisset Harbor in Woods Hole. Along the way, riders will enjoy scenic views of Southeastern Massachusetts' beaches, harbors, rivers, farms, and forests awash in the colors of fall. Riders will cycle through cities and towns all around the Buzzards Bay region, including Westport, Dartmouth, New Bedford, Fairhaven, Mattapoisett, Acushnet, Rochester, Wareham, Bourne and Falmouth.

With a lunch stop, water and snack stations along the course, and on-the-road repair technicians available at call, riders can feel confident that the course is safe and fully supported. At the finish line, the 150-plus riders will be greeted by a crowd of cheering supporters and a celebration with food, drinks and live music.

So pump up your tires, strap on your helmet, and get ready for the ride of your life! The Buzzards Bay Watershed Ride is just two months away. To learn more about the Watershed Ride, register as a rider or sign up to volunteer, visit www.savebuzzardsbay.org/watershedride.

Property Tax Relief Available for Marion

Applications are now available to help qualified Marion residents with their 2014-2015 property taxes through the Marion Community Fund of the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts (CFSEMA).

All applications must be received in the Community Foundation's offices by 3:00 pm on Friday, August 29. Applications are available at the Town House in Marion, the Council on Aging, and the Community Foundation, 30 Cornell Street, New Bedford, MA 02740, or by calling 508-996-8253. They can also be downloaded at www.cfsema.org.

The Marion Community Fund was established in 1999 by a private donor to provide qualified Marion homeowners with property tax relief. The Fund's goal is to preserve the town's diversity and character by providing property tax relief for Marion homeowners who are a key part of the town's makeup and who might be forced to leave Marion due to higher taxes. There are no age restrictions on this grant.

The Marion Community Fund hopes people of all ages who qualify will apply. If you are a Marion homeowner, have owned your home for at least one year, have earned income of less than $25,000 (single) or $37,500 (married), and have assets of $46,000 or less (single) or $63,000 or less (married), excluding your home, you may be eligible for tax relief. All payments will be made to the Town of Marion and credited toward the grant recipient's tax bill.

ORR Class of 1965

FISH - Friends In Service Helping

Friends In Service Helping has been in operation in Mattapoisett since 1969. We provide rides to medical appointments for elderly residents who cannot drive anymore. We service Mattapoisett residents with transportation from their homes to Wareham, Marion, Fairhaven, New Bedford, and Dartmouth, as well as right here in Mattapoisett. Last year alone, we transported 301 residents!

Our town does not have public transportation. Our elderly residents are counting on FISH to get them to their medical appointments. We need more volunteer callers and drivers. We always work around your schedule when it is convenient for you! To find out more about your opportunity to be a FISH volunteer, please call FISH Coordinator Jacquie McGraw at 508-758-9278.

A POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
 Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so I can attain my goals, you who give me the divine gifts to forgive and forget all evil against me, in this short prayer, to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory.
 Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.
 The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted, without mentioning the favor. Only your initials shall appear at the bottom. S.M.D & A.E.D
